Change Biden's mind by throwing him out of power and replace him with Dr. Cornel West or Jill Stein. Biden is a lost cause and will be considered one of the most evil leaders in history.

Truly. Are Americans going to give all of their real estate back to the Native Americans?

10:58:36 From Ira Dember to Everyone:
Corrupt far-right US politicians intentionally conflate anti-zionism with antisemitism.
Thanks to AIPAC, in many US states it's now written into law. If you stand against Gaza genocide you hate Jews.

10:58:36 From Linda Rose to Everyone:
My understanding is that even in the bible there are many references that the land was conditional on following God's laws which Israel is blatantly not doing.

for those of us not living in the USA, I would rather not read about US politics in this forum.

11:00:27 From Stanley Bercovitz to Everyone:
Replying to "Change Biden's mind ..."

Not sure Biden is a lost cause. It would probably be wise to think a bit more rationally and look at the realistic alternative(s). West and Stein are not viable/electable candidates at this point in the election game. I choose to focus on change through pressure, which I am seeing happening, slowly, yet actually happening.

11:01:07 From Tina Liakopoulos to Everyone:

What are you talking about? Dr. Cornel West is awesome and so is Jill Stein. They have so much integrity. Would you rather have criminality or integrity?

Take a breath. They are not serious candidates at this point, I am not saying they are not good, or the best, but not realistic candidates adopted and loved by the big money and networks.

11:02:21 From Tania Natale to Everyone:

Dr. Isaac is brilliant and needs to be heard worldwide!

11:02:24 From Renee Enteen to Everyone:

let's remember to be respectful of divergent ideas here in the chat (and in life!

11:02:37 From Rachel Wittlinger to Everyone:

I my conversations with Christian Zionists I have found that it is not only theology, which the base their ideas on, it is also a completely different view of history - completely different narrative. Then it seems there is so much mistrust. People on each side of the discussion claim the otherside is lying and the arguments go backward and forward. Then there is the argument with radical Islam. It is so hard to present a clear, convincing argument....

11:02:58 From Tamara Mitchell to Everyone:

Thank you Dr. Isaac

11:03:06 From Linda Rose to Everyone:

I do worry that there is little acknowledgment of in Palestinian Christians. This really plays into the "ISIS" narrative ; exactly what Alexander is saying now!

11:03:20 From Stanley Bercovitz to Everyone:

Replying to "What are you talking..."

I would rather have something with which we can work. If someone is not in office, you can't work with them.

11:03:42 From Mohamed Keita to Everyone:

I am interested in that Bible verse as well. I think he said Galatians Three

11:03:52 From Jim Haber to Everyone:

In this week's Torah portion, at Sinai, G-d is clear that It kept "ownership" to Itself.

11:03:53 From Stephen Corbin to Everyone:

The western Church has been comfortable trying to turn God into a regional real estate agent, rather than the eternal author and owner of the world and humankind forever. The Holy Land is not God's Shangri-La. All of God's world was intended to be Holy and all of God's children.

11:04:03 From Bee Durban to Everyone:

11:04:25 From Tina Liakopoulos to Everyone:

Well unfortunately you have no one you can work with in office right now, so maybe you should vote to put someone good in office otherwise you will end up with what you have and nothing will change.

11:04:34 From Abigail Abysalh-Metzger to Everyone:

Well said. I would even argue there is an issue of not being rational. I have given it a special term: "Irrationally uninformed" since, in my opinion, it is a combination of both. Short of me saying "ignorant." (I try to stay above that level.)

11:06:15 From Christopher Traft to Everyone:
How do you speak to the Zionist argument that Jews are indigenous to Israel, and they cannot be colonizers or occupiers on their own land?

11:06:18 From Alex Mikulich to Everyone:
Zionism built on multiple lies like U.S. settler colonialism; both U.S. and Israeli settler colonialism operate on supremacy, denying existence of others and erasing history and erasing history of genocide

Especially ones that used to vocally support Israel in the past?

11:09:12 From Phoebe Knopf to Everyone:

Thank you so much, Rev Munther Isaac. How do you see the role of US (and other)

I guess I would place these "moderate" churches into the category of "to do nothing is to be part of the problem." Not speaking for the voiceless and walking the safe path and convincing themselves that this situation does not impact their beliefs is... well... afraid to voice the beliefs of their faith. I'm not so sure this is truly Christian.

Do you think even the Western Christian "allies" those institutions that are calling for a ceasefire, are also influenced by liberal Christian Zionism? (Eg the preface to A Land Full of God). Even those organizations that promoted your Christmas Eve sermon still refer to this as war not genocide. And tend to describe what is happening in Gaza in the passive voice. eg a tragedy unfolding, a famine. There seems to be a reluctance to call out Israel directly for committing genocide with US participation. Any suggestions for responding to this in Christian circles? I'm based in the US. I've been volunteering with Jewish, Palestinian and Muslim organization to call for a ceasefire. But it's important for Christians to take actions against the US sponsored genocide as Christians.

Very interesting webinar thus far! I understand the history is very complex and filled with a lot of difficult, hard, and problematic events. Given that situation, my biggest question comes from the fact that much of the movement of people into the area started about 80 years ago, probably 3 generations worth for many at this point. At this point in time, Israel, to my knowledge, has 9.7 million people, and Palestine 5.2 million people. With that being said, are there any practical ways to rectify some of the difficult hurtful choices made in the past while not hurting or inflicting new pain on people born into the choices of their predecessors? Maybe not a question from a theological perspective but still interested in your opinion if you have one since it's ultimately the outcome.

11:23:51 From David Benedict to Everyone:

On the "land" issue, It needs to be said biblically based on the words in Genesis, Exodus, and Deuteronomy, that God did not "give" Israel to the Jews. Actually God's Covenant with the Israelites was not about ethnicity with a "land contract" or "Covenant" but the real language is about a way of behaving or living. The "Covenant" words are about visiting the imprisoned...caring for the widow and orphan...welcoming the stranger, tending the sick...doing justice and loving mercy. Only then are you God's people and this land can be yours to live on and to settle but not to exclusively own. So Israeli's arrogance and exclusiveness is wholly wrong and unjustified to excuse their treatment of the Palestinian people.

For example this is the PayPal account of my dear brother Adel Al Zaharna. he told me personally it's easier for him to get the money since there are no banks anymore: samanote2012@gmail.com . He is in urgent need for money to escape Gaza since the last "safe" zone, Rafah, is also under bombardment now and they can't stand it much longer

What do say to xtian Zionists who believe this all must happen as part of prophecy in the end times? Isn't Jesus the New Temple, the New land, the New Israel" Each time the Bible mentions New Jerusalem, it is said to come down from heaven, where angels guard the city's gates. (Revelation 3: 12; 21: 2, 10, 12) I don't understand where Zionists get man creating an earthly Israel.

Letter(email) writing to your representatives, it really makes a difference when done en masse, organize, don't do it once, do it continuously, educate yourself, join groups such as Sabeel. I am a graduate of a joint MD/MPH program which focuses on situations such as these (it's the only program in the country which prioritizes these situations) and we find ways to "inflict change" all the time - even in our country.

I've been to Palestine many times and find it is far easier to fly into Amman and enter Palestine from there. Will still go through a lot of questioning but not as much and less chance of being refused entry. Stick to talking about going to sites in Israel that you are visiting as a tourist.
